
Who do you want to win the Democratic nomination?

Posted by mminks - 2008/01/22 05:49

Which Democratic candidate do you want to win the nomination - Hillary Clinton, Barack Obama, or John Edwards? Why? Who do you think the winner should pick as their running mate? Why?

=====

Re:Who do you want to win the Democratic nominatio

Posted by jcamfield - 2008/01/22 08:53

I've gotta go with the 'O' -- While my political beliefs are more in line with Gravel and Kucinich, there's that ugly reality factor. Nothing against Clinton, but given even moderate republicans' distaste for her, I don't think she'll capture that all-important middle ground vote...

=====

Re:Who do you want to win the Democratic nominatio

Posted by cwessell - 2008/01/25 07:41

I still don't think Obama has enough experience. But, he is so charismatic and like a JFK! I wish that people would just go for the candidate and not anything else. I believe some people are voting for certain candidates and also it works the other way...NOT voting for people because of their race or gender. I trust the american people to take us out of the dark ages of the last 8 years!

=====